Contract of Employment, Staff Handbook and Policy Audits

Our employment law specialists will ensure your business has the correct up to date contracts, handbooks and policies. They will guide you through any queries providing the right support and advice for your business.

Meetings can be held via telephone or video call.

You will have access to our specialists no matter where you are based. We work with clients from all over the UK and you will have access to one of our employment law experts 5 days per week.

We recognise that not one size fits all and we will be happy to discuss your specific requirements with you to advise you on a retainer basis in order to help you reduce your costs.

Kerseys Solicitors LLP provides peace of mind on all employment law and HR issues.

What our clients say:

“Friendly and efficient, explained everything to me promptly and clearly”

“Although very professional every step of the way, it felt very personal which is something I very much appreciated”

“Highly experienced, always prompt to reply and very patient”

“Very few of my colleagues got the thorough and personal treatment from other firms/solicitors that Kerseys gave to me”

“Regularly goes above and beyond to assist”

"Not only masters of employment law, but also shows a level of genuine concern and attentiveness that is exceptionally rare. Choosing Kerseys to represent my business has unequivocally been one of the best decisions I've made."

HR and Employment Law Advice

Your company will gain direct access to HR and Employment law experts, who will be able to provide you with advice on any issue, no matter the level of complexity, relieving you of any unwanted or unneeded stress managing your business.

We will take the time to learn about your business, its culture and future goals in order to approach the issues you may be facing in the most appropriate way.

We advise on capability concerns, grievance and disciplinary procedures, settlement agreements and employment tribunal claims along with reviewing and/or preparing your staff handbook ensuring all your policies and procedures are legally compliant.

We understand the importance of assisting a business in the prevention of and defence of employment tribunal claims. Without the right support, we appreciate that being presented with a tribunal claim can often be challenging and overwhelming.
